Free-Standing Self-Help Pole

The Free-Standing Self-Help Pole is designed to provide support and reassurance for individuals who need assistance with sitting up or repositioning in bed. Whether used with a conventional or hospital bed, this sturdy yet easy-to-use support pole helps promote independence, confidence, and ease of movement.

Placed securely at the bedhead or bedside, the height-adjustable canvas strap handle allows users to find the perfect position for their comfort and mobility needs. The white powder-coated mild steel frame offers durability and stability, while the easy dismantling feature makes storage and transport effortless—perfect for both home and care facility settings.
