The Silicone Fibre Overlay is designed to protect all pressure-prone areas of the body by reducing pressure, friction and shear on the skin, while making any bed more comfortable and promoting good sleep.

The Silicone Fibre Overlay is constructed from silicone coated cylindrical fibres that retain their loft and promote airflow to the skin's surface for superior patient support and comfort. The silicone coating lubricates each fibre to reduce friction and shear force while preventing moisture penetration or retention, making the Silicone Fibre Overlay an ideal choice for palliative care patients or anyone trying to achieve a comfortable night's sleep.
